Bus Crash in California Is Fatal to Eight

By DIAL TORGERSO

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP)

Eight persons, including the adopted daughter of actors Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, were killed and about 40 others were injured when a bus carrying 65 church members crashed head-on into seven other vehicles Monday.

Highway patrol officers said a front tire on the church bus blew out, causing the vehicle to career across the center line on busy U.S. 101 into oncoming traffic.

Four of the dead were children. Ten of the injured were reported in serious condition. After the accident, the horrified, frightened reactions were: "I couldn't look." "We all just prayed." "I thought I was going to die. I can't believe I'm alive."

Officers said the bus was 21 years old and had no emergency exit. It was carrying 65 members of the Disciples of Christ chapel of the Canyon Church of Canoga Park, Calif., and was six miles south of San Clemente, near San Onofre Bridge, when a front tire blew.

The bus hurtled across the highway divider, striking seven other vehicles and finally coming to rest against a palm tree at the edge of a 40-foot bluff over San Onofre Creek. Two children on the church bus died. One was Deborah Lee Rogers, 12, a Korean, adopted daughter of Rogers and Miss Evans, his wife. The other was Deborah's friend, Joan Russell, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Russell of Granada Hills, Calif.

The other six dead were all in one station wagon. They were Margaret Huss Armijo, 20, of Albuquerque, N.M.; her children, Jo Ellen, 16 months, and Joseph, 6 months; her mother, Marie Huss, 50, of Fallbrook, Calif.; and her sisters, Susan, 22 and Catherine, 15.

Miss Evans, distraught and under sedation at her Chatsworth, Calif., home, said only, "I've heard it but I can't accept it. I just can't."

Passengers on the bus said the group had made its monthly trip to donate food and clothing to La Esperanza Orphanage in Tijuana, just across the Mexican border.

Stronger Barry Backer to Be Decided

CHEYENNE Wyo. (AP)

Wyoming Republicans decided today which of two senatorial aspirants is the stronger supporter of Barry Goldwater when they select a nominee to face Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., in the November election.

Today's primaries end what has been for the most part—a lusterless campaign. There are few serious fights among any of the nomination seekers.

Most of what interest there is has been generated by former Wyoming Republican Chairman John Wold and Kenny Sallors, one-time Wyoming basketball great, and now a dude rancher.

Both are strong Goldwater supporters—and were backers of the Arizona senator long before he won the presidential nomination at the national convention.

Wold and Sallors have not campaigned against each other—and each has claimed that he is the stronger Goldwater supporter. Their campaigns have been aimed strictly at McGee and the Johnson administration.

Sallors, 43, served one term in the Wyoming Legislature, in 1952.

Wold, 47, a Casper oil geologist, is also a former one-term legislator. He served in 1955.

Keating, Foe of Goldwater, to Run Again

By JAMES DEVLIN

NEW YORK (AP) — Republican Sen. Keating B. Keating announced today that he will seek re-election, but he still withheld support from Barry Goldwater, the party's presidential nominee.

"The people of New York are aware of the deep difference between Sen. Goldwater's record and my own," Keating told a news conference.

"I seriously doubt that any voter in New York would be impressed by any lip service that I might give Sen. Goldwater, or that he might give me in the name of party unity."

Keating will be up for renomination at a meeting of the Republican State Committee next Monday. U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has strong backing for the Senate nomination at the Democratic state convention.

Disappearing From the Old American Scene Is That Good Ole Swimming Hole

By J.C. TILLMAN

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A sandy road from our town wound over a rickety bridge across a backwater slough, coursed through cotton fields to a rusty iron bridge before giving way to a trail trodden by every kid in the community.

The trail led to nature at its loneliest and an outdoor sports phenomenon rapidly disappearing from the American scene—the Old Swimming Hole.

Even the farmers who owned land surrounding it knew that the crook in the creek which formed the hole was there for a special purpose. It belonged to kids, the kids alone.

Those who had cotton planted along the trail ignored inroads made by feet on carefully hoed rows.

Watermelons were sturdily fenced. And there was gossip of shotgun shells well crammed with salt flew.

But to no avail. Many a watermelon was cooled in the waters of that sandy creek bottom.

The modern pool cannot match the contraptions with which the old swimming hole was equipped. No diving board with safety matting can compete with a vine hung by nature from a tree as a way to get into the water.

Even nature couldn't stand the onslaught of youngsters and the vine gave way eventually to

Attacks on Districting Bill Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate foes of a rider to that $3.3 billion foreign aid bill aimed at delaying reapportionment of state legislatures continued their attacks today.

Sen. Gaylord A. Nelson, D-Wis., took the firing line for those fighting to prevent a vote. Leaders already have conceded there is no prospect of a showdown before Congress recesses Friday until Aug. 31.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., supporting the rider, told the Senate in a brief speech that "it is imperative that Congress take action" to delay court-ordered reapportionment of both houses of state legislatures on a population basis until a constitutional amendment can be adopted.

He said the supreme court ruling, if allowed to stand, will increase the power of some big cities and "extend the efforts of bosses and gangsters to control our country."

Nelson reviewed at length the case in which the Supreme Court knocked down plans for reapportioning the Alabama Legislature.

Nelson said that under wither reapportioning plan, a minority of the state's population could elect a majority of the legislature, and legislators representing only 14 per cent of the population "could forever prevent any (state) constitutional amendment from being presented to the people, thus denying the people of the state their rights."

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, Senate Democratic leader, told newsmen he saw no prospect at the moment of settling the controversy in advance of Friday's recess.

He said the matter wasn't even mentioned at this morning's conference of President Johnson and Democratic congressional leaders which was concerned primarily with getting through as much of the administration's legislative program as possible.

Mansfield said he thought the post-convention session will require "anywhere from two weeks to a month, or longer."

Hoffa Appeal of Sentence Is Inevitable

CHICAGO (AP) — The chief counsel of James R. Hoffa says he will appeal the five-year prison term given the Teamsters Union president on a mail fraud and conspiracy conviction.

Maurice Walsh, Hoffa's chief attorney, said he would appeal the sentence and ask for a new trial within the 10-day period established Monday by Judge Richard B. Austin of U.S. District Court.

Judge Austin sentenced Hoffa, 51, to four concurrent five-year terms and fined him $10,000. He said the term would be served after Hoffa finishes an eight-year prison sentence imposed in Chattanooga, Tenn., for jury tampering. Hoffa has appealed the conviction.

Judge Austin sentenced Hoffa and six codefendants Monday on convictions of mail fraud and conspiracy July 26, stemming from a scheme to fraudulently obtain more than $25 million from the Teamsters pension fund.

Prosecutors said appeal procedures could forestall imprisonment for Hoffa for as long as two years.

Hoffa's sentence was the maximum permitted — five years for each of three counts of fraud and five years and the fine for conspiracy.

The codefendants and their sentences are: Benjamin Dranow, a former Minneapolis businessman, five years. He will begin the sentence after he completes a prison term he is now serving for fraud and tax evasion.

Calvin Kovens, Miami Beach contractor, three years and a $5,000 fine.

Abe I. Weinblatt, a retired New York furrier now living in Miami Beach, one hour in custody and a $5,000 fine.

Zachary Strate Jr., New Orleans builder and now living in San Juan, P.R., three years and a $5,000 fine.

S. George Burris, New York accountant, 18 months and a $5,000 fine.

Bonds were set at $10,000 for Hoffa, $2,500 for Weinblatt and $5,000 for the others.

Five Major Fires Sweep Nevada Grass

By RICHARD E. MEYER

ELKO, Nev. (AP) — Fire officials urgently mapped a fresh assault today on five major fires sweeping through sun-drenched grassland and sagebrush in northeastern Nevada.

There was no encouragement from the weather man, who forecast high temperatures, low humidity and possible high winds — an explosive combination.

More than a dozen Nevada blazes have blackened an estimated 350 square miles of valuable grazing land, an area about one-third the size of Rhode Island, since most fires were sparked by lightning Saturday. The burned area within a 50-mile radius of Elko was estimated at a minimum 205,000 acres.

The Air Force and Forest Service were asked to transport reinforcements to Elko and to control the expected heavy air traffic. All private flights in and out of the Elko airport were banned to give the fire airlift unrestricted movement.

The Bureau of Land Management, directing the battle, took steps to double its 1,100-man crew and boost the number of converted bombers, used to drop fire-retardant chemicals, from 7 to 40.

Four major blazes, dating from Saturday, whipped fast fire lines Monday afternoon after fire crews thought they were contained. A fifth major blaze broke out about noon near the Nevada Reform School north-east of Elko.

FIVE-HOUR BATTLE — At least 50 persons were injured when more than 200 Negroes battled police for five hours in Dixmoor, Ill., a suburb of Chicago. Cattlemen to Hear L. D. Owen

L. D. Owen, Agriculture Manager of the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce, will be the featured speaker at the monthly meeting of the Hempstead County Cattlemen's Association, Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Diamond Cafe in Hope.

The title of Mr. Owen's talk will be "Beef Imports and how they affect the American Beef Market."

Jerry Rogers, Field Representative of the Arkansas Cattlemen's Association, will also be on the program to discuss Legislation to control Beef Imports now pending in the National House of Representatives.

All interested persons and all members of the local Association are urged to attend.

Injuries to Negro Prove Fatal Here

Injuries suffered Sunday in a truck accident on Highway 73, eight miles out on the Columbus road, proved fatal today to Joe Porter, 74-year-old Hempstead Negro of near Washington. He died about 4 a.m. today.

Porter was a passenger in a truck driven by Jeff Carrigan, Negro of Near Washington.

State Police Sgt. Guy Downing said the truck traveling at a high rate of speed ran off the road and overturned. Sgt. Downing said charges of driving while intoxicated and involuntary manslaughter will be filed against Carrigan, probably late today or tomorrow.

The Negroes had use of all facilities Meadors said. He said he escorted them to the cafeteria at noon. They went through the line and chose their own tables.

The trio — David Howard, 18; Charles Hall Jr., 17, and Georgia Lea Gordon, 17 — were admitted under a federal court order opening the 11th and 12th grades to all races.

The Circle Riding Club of Hope has been invited again this year to participate in the 12th annual RCA championship rodeo to be held in Springfield, La., on August 20-21-22. They will join other queens, mayors, dignitaries and riding clubs from across the Ark-La-Tex as they gather for what has been termed as the longest rodeo parade in Louisiana. Last year, over 800 horses and riders representing every club invited were in the annual parade in Louisiana. Thursday will kick off the rodeo parade and indicate this will be the biggest parade yet and the last several each have been miles in length. This year's rodeo purse has been increased to over $2,100 and when entry fee are added it will be one of the biggest paying rodeos in Louisiana.

Twenty Arkansans will be presented prizes ranging from $50 to expense paid World's Fair trips at a luncheon in their honor Saturday at the Sam Peck Hotel in Little Rock. This is from the committee of the two party system. First prize winners include Stewart Landis of Lewisville and Earl Hrieh of Stamps.

Two high school graduates will enroll in the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture this fall as recipients of $500.

Dr. Lynn Harris is a patient in St. Vincent's Infirmary at Little Rock. He is in Room 514.

As per usual this time of year and usually the same man, Aubrey Goodwin of Rosston Rt. 3, brought in a 137 pound watermelon, the largest of the season so far in this area.

Thursday night the VFW will hold another dance for members and their guests. It is for couples only at $2 per pair. A real live band will play.

Delegates to Democratic Convention

Delegates to the Arkansas State Democratic convention to be held in Little Rock, Arkansas, September 18th and 19th, are:

Al Graves, Mitchell LaGrone, Syd McMath, Frank McLarty, Leonard Ellis, Jim Cole, Harry Hawthorne, Jimmie Griffin, Carter Sutton, J. C. (Dick) Turner, Orie Byers, George Peck, Vincent W. Foster.

No Trouble in School Integration

GREENSBURG, La. (AP) — Three Negroes return for their second day in a formerly all-white high school in rural Louisiana today. Thus far, things have gone peacefully.

"I was indeed proud of my faculty and my student body," Reed R. Meadors, principal of Greensburg High School, said. White students, he said, "ignored the situation."

Two Negro boys and a girl lowered the state's rural segregation barriers Monday when they went to class with 158 white high school students.

An FBI team and state police looked on.

The Negroes had use of all facilities Meadors said. He said he escorted them to the cafeteria at noon. They went through the line and chose their own tables.

The trio — David Howard, 18; Charles Hall Jr., 17, and Georgia Lea Gordon, 17 — were admitted under a federal court order opening the 11th and 12th grades to all races.

The job figures were elped markedly this summer by the record in industrial production set in July, usually a slack period. The Federal Reserve Board's index jumped a full point. Except for the 1.5-point rise in April this was the biggest increase in 2 months.

Other factory figures show that new hiring has been increasing at a faster than seasonal rate, while the layoff rate has dropped to the lowest level for any month since February 1955.

This, and the steadily increasing number of jobs in the service industries, apparently was enough in July to more than offset a growing labor force and send the unemployment rate below the 5 per cent mark, to the joy of government economists.

Labor can count other good signs for the future.

Corporate profits as a whole have risen to a record. Business expansion plans are themselves expanded almost every month.

And productivity — that measure of unit output per hour of man labor — continues to rise at a fairly steady rate.

These three things add up to this: Business is in a better position to offer more jobs to repay a bit more to those already employed.

Union leaders are well aware of this and have been tailoring their demands to this improvement in the corporate picture.

Demo Platform Writers Plan Rosy Picture

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon came out flatly today for some excise tax reduction next year. Almost simultaneously President Johnson's chief economist suggested that the government subsequently consider feeding back part of its rising tax revenues to the states.

The proposals were delivered to the Democratic platform committee, holding open hearings preparatory to next week's national convention in Atlantic City, N.J. The ideas seemed certain to become planks in the party's 1964 platform.

Dillon, who previously has spoken cautiously of proposals in Congress for repeal or reduction of the Korean War excise taxes, told platform writers: "I think next year is the time."

He promised that the Treasury will be prepared to give Congress specific recommendations next year, but emphasized that he was not talking only about the wartime excises. The whole structure of excise taxes should be studied, he said, instead of simply repealing the best-known levies such as those on luggage or cosmetics.

Chairman Walter W. Heller, of the President's Council of Economic Advisers offered a suggestion which excite even more interest among the committee members. After presenting a glowing report on the 42-month business expansion — which he Continued on Page Two said has reversed "the alarming economic trend" which set in during Republican rule — Heller noted that federal revenues will be increasing annually by something like $6 billion if the business upsurge is sustained.

This growing drain on the economy could eventually retard economic growth, he said, and the nation should consider "declaring a dividend to the American people."

This could be in the form of further general tax reduction, the economist said, or in increased federal investment in growth-stimulating programs.

"Perhaps some means could be found for declaring a large dividend to our hard-pressed states and local units," he said. In general Heller's presentation amounted to ammunition for the peace-preparedness-prosperity campaign Johnson has indicated he will wage.

He said a production rise of nearly $150 billion in the four Kennedy-Johnson years will exceed economic gains of the entire eight-year Eisenhower administration.

While the administration spokesmen were pointing with pride to the economic record, a behind-the-scenes effort was under way aimed at avoiding a convention battle over a civil rights plank in the party platform.

Sponsored by Southerners, the civil rights move was disclosed by Robert R. Richardson, an Atlanta lawyer serving on the platform committee. He told a reporter that a proposed civil rights plank has been submitted to some members of his committee.

He declined to make it public, but said it basically takes the position that the 1964 Civil Rights Act is the law of the land and should be enforced, asserts allegiance to the rule of law and urges resort to the courts rather than the streets for the protection of civil rights.

Heller's report to the committee was built on a new official estimate that total output — the gross national product — will climb to a record annual rate of $840 billion in the January-April quarter of next year. It was last reported at $18.5 billion, in the April-June quarter.

With all the price increases of the past dozen years screened out, Heller said, the 5 per cent average annual increase in real output in the Kennedy-Johnson term "has nearly doubled the average annual gains of 2 to 3 per cent recorded during the Republican years."

Richardson, the Georgian who disclosed the civil rights move, told a reporter that the proposed plank was submitted to Frederick G. Dutton, executive director of the platform committee, and several key members.

Richardson, who described himself as chief of staff to Gov. Carl Sanders of Georgia, conferred with other Southerners on the platform committee late Monday about the proposed plank.

It was not designed as the kind of civil rights plank that the South would like, Richardson said, but as one it could live with and that it was hoped would be generally acceptable to the party.

Dillon, in his prepared testimony, said the nation now is "in the middle of our fourth year of continued economic advance — the best period of peacetime prosperity in our entire modern history."

"In looking ahead to further tax reduction," he said, "it would appear that high priority should be given to a thorough overhaul of the hodgepodge of excise taxes remaining from World War II days."

The bus was on a stretch of four-lane, undivided highway known locally as "Slaughter Alley," for the 15 deaths that have occurred there so far this year. Only one mile ahead was a divided, six-lane freeway.

Rogers, convalescing in a Los Angeles hospital from recent neck surgery, was told by doctors of his child's death.

Debbie, adopted by Rogers and Miss Evans in 1958, was 12 last Friday.

CHATTER

By "Bill"
When we read about the "Raffine" look from Paris, we went scurrying to our little French dictionary. The word means exactly what you might think... refined... subtle.

Coco Chanel announced this new feminine look at her latest opening, while she herself was sitting on the top step of the famous stairs where the models descend to be viewed by the collection customers.

According to Madame Chanel, the sportive look is out... way out... and the dress-up look is in. Those heavy socks and boyish clothes, including boots, will go back where they belong; and the ultra-feminine fabrics, laces, ruffles, perfume and jewelry will emerge in full force. Even the women who prefer to wear the pants will find them "Raffine"...

A PTA School of Instruction will be held Thursday, August 20 at the Garrett Memorial Baptist Church. Registration will be from 12:45 to 1 p.m., and the school will end at 4 p.m. District Director Mrs. Charles Owens of Texarkana will preside.

This is important for all PTA officers in Hempstead County to attend, and all members, whether they are officers or not, are welcome.

Chapter 328, Order of the Eastern Star, will have a regular meeting at the Masonic Hall Thursday, August 20 at 8 p.m. All members are urged to attend.

Friday, August 21
The Rocky Mound Home Demonstration Club and Community will have their ice cream supper Friday night, August 21 at the Fair Park.

All those that have freezers, bring a filled freezer and the rest bring cakes or cookies.

Prenuptial Party For Popular Bride-elect
Complimenting Miss Claude Ann Sutton, bride-elect of Bill Freeman, at one of the loveliest pre-nuptial parties of the season, Mrs. Newton Pentecost and Mrs. William Sutton entertained Saturday morning with a beautifully appointed coffee at the Pentecost home on Penny Acres.

Silver trays were encircled with dainty cheese rolls and tasty cherry turnovers. An interest center was created with a scalloped melon decoratively filled with fruit and melon balls. Picture in Viet Nam Still Murky

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Viet Nam picture is just as murky and baffling as ever, with peace no nearer and the new leadership doing what the old leadership did almost a year ago on a road that ruined it.

On Aug. 21, 1963 the then President Ngo Dinh Diem, neck-deep in trouble with Buddhists in his own South Viet Nam and fled guerrillas from North Viet Nam, tightened his control by proclaiming a state of siege.

This, in effect, was martial law with its various restrictions. The United States, which had been bailing out the Vietnamese since the French were driven away in 1954, didn't like Diem's performance.

But it kept on sending aid — about $500 million of it a year — to crush the Red guerrillas who weren't then, and aren't now, being crushed. They are even stronger now, and more daring.

Diem's effort to strengthen his grip didn't work. His generals got fed up with him. In an army coup which seized the government last Nov. 1 Diem and his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, were killed.

The new government became the revolutionary council of officers headed by Gen. Duong Van Minh — Big Minh — who was such a poor administrator that the country slid from bad to worse.

The Minh junta promised respect for "fundamental liberties" and free elections as soon as "conditions permit." They haven't permitted yet. This country recognized the new regime, which didn't last long.

There was another military coup on Jan. 30, 1964, this one led by Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, 36, who had been in on the November coup, but late. So Khanh's military junta took over from Minh's military junta.

It was a bloodless coup, like rearranging the furniture of government, and Khanh let Minh save some face by retaining him as an adviser.

The new boss ran the country with the help of a 35-man military council, and made himself premier. Things got no better. The Red guerrillas continued to become more bold and powerful, despite American help.

As the months passed more American lives were lost in Viet Nam. There was talk that Khanh was in trouble and his regime shaky. Then, in the midst of the big excitement two weeks ago, he moved like Diem to strengthen himself.

The excitement began when Red PT boats from North Viet Nam.

American carrier-based planes destroyed or damaged about 25 North Vietnamese PT boats. Four PT boat bases and an oil depot were damaged.

While the Western world wondered what the Communists would do now, Khanh did something himself on Aug. 7. Like Diem of a year before he declared a state of emergency throughout South Viet Nam.

This meant tougher control over the civilian population, censorship, travel, food distributions, stronger authority for arresting people in their homes and searching them, and the death penalty for terrorism.

The announced intention of all this was to strengthen South Viet Nam against the Reds. It also strengthened Khanh's hold on his job, but for how long, remembering what happened to Diem, is uncertain.

Then Sunday his leaders of the armed forces elected him president and voted a new constitution. This is not the same as free elections. Khanh wound up

Geisler's Son Lands in Jail

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP) — The son of the late attorney Jerry Geisler was sentenced to seven days in city jail Monday for illegally displaying a gun.

Michael James Geisler, 27, had pleaded guilty to the charge.

Police said he was arrested June 11 after he forced a taxi driver at gun point to take him for a ride through the Hollywood hills.

Puleski Memorial

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proclaimed Monday that Sunday, Oct. 11, would be a memorial day to Count Casimir Pulaski, the young Polish patriot who gave his life in the service of the American Revolution. Pulaski County, Ark., was named in honor of the count, who died in 1779 of a wound received while leading a cavalry charge at Savannah, Ga.

with dictatorial power.

This may have opened the door to greater participation by American military advisers in decisions against the guerrillas. But it also may be the preliminary to a new military coup throwing Khanh out.

Poinsett County Dries at Work

TRUMANN, Ark. (AP) - About 125 churches began a campaign Monday to make Poinsett County dry. Church members began circulating petitions to get an anti-liquor proposal on the November general election ballot.

The drive is being headed by a five-member committee.

The Rev. Jack Pollard, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Trumann and a member of the committee, said 1,500 signatures were needed to get the proposal on the ballot.

He said the committee is confident it can get enough signers. The proposal would affect only Poinsett County.

Goldwater Advisers Map Drive

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Barry Goldwater's advisers are mapping a massive television campaign, and keeping it flexible to counter any major Democratic moves in the race for the White House.

Goldwater aides sketched today the plans being developed for a broadcasting effort they said will cost about $4.5 million. It is expected to begin before the end of September.

Republican National Chairman Dean Burch has estimated the Democrats will spend more than $8 million on President Johnson's television campaign.

The Goldwater forces are laying out a campaign plan that will include filmed and taped television programs, both regional and national, a handful of major live appearances on nationwide television, and brief spot announcements on both radio and television.

One Goldwater adviser said the television campaign will build in intensity as the election nears.

Goldwater's men do not believe that President Johnson will agree to face-to-face campaign debates.

At his news conference Saturday the President turned aside a debate question with "we will get into that after our convention when we make a decision in the matter."

Goldwater's traveling campaign, a source at the Republican National Committee said, is expected to cover about 75,000 miles.

Goldwater will travel on a chartered jet plane. The plane, being remodeled for the senator and his staff will have space for 54 reporters.

SHORT RISE

By Frank O'Neal

WHAT HAPPENED TO YOU?
THE BLACK KNIGHT CAUGHT ME OFF GUARD
THEN HE HIT ME OVER THE HEAD WITH HIS MACE!
I HAD NO IDEA THE GROUND WAS SO SOFT HERE. COULD YOU GET ME A SHOVEL?

BRAVO BRAND

THE STORY: Frank lives in the rough town of Terrapin, a town of lawless men. As he watches a pretty young woman ride off on a horse, a shot sends him ducking to the ground and in a moment his own gun is roaring a reply.

Someone yelled inside the pen.

In deep black beyond a man furiously swore while a third, off to the left, shouted something Ives lost in the rapid-fire pound of the assassin's gun.

He felt the jar of impact as a slug tore dirt from beneath his boot. A second near miss plucked the cloth of his sleeve, and he fired at a shadowy onrushing blur that dissolved in a high-pitched scream and floundered from sight like a capsizing ship.

Powdersmoke wreathed Ives' crouching shape. Lead whispered blue past his cheek. Something nudged his waist and he fired at the flash and then, gun tipped, contained his anger while the echoes limped off through the brush beyond the pens.

A shuddering, quiet, edged cautiously back and off down the street where there were shouts and questions, and the scuff of boots as the morbidly curious circumspectly edged nearer.

Ives, punching out empties, swiftly reloaded and was starting to turn when a voice sharply cried: Hold it! Throw down that gun an' git them paws up!

Eyes narrowing, Ives held his chances and decided discretion was the better part of valor. Reluctantly, but finding no way around it, he settled the pistol in his open-topped holster and lifted his arms.

"That's show in' more savvy than I figured you for," the harsh voice declared. A crunch of boots heralded the man's approach.

The boot sound stopped. Ives felt the gun abruptly plucked from his thigh. Lips clamped together in swift-surgency anger, he held his stance.

"All right. Turn around," Harsh voice commanded.

Arms still raised Ives completed his turn, careful to give no excuse for gunplay.

The fellow confronting him with the confiscated six-shooter was a hawk-faced man in string tie and Prince Albert, the same cold-jawed jasper who had killed that roustabout down the street. And now Ives discerned something he'd not previously noticed—a glint of metal on that fancy vest.

But if Ives was surprised his captor seemed more so. His jaw fell open. He stared in astonished consternation.

"Say, boys," he growled, beckoning, "git a eyeful of this!" Irritably, glance skewering Ives, he demanded: "Who the devil are you?"

Ives said reasonably, "I might ask you the same. Maybe you gents better slow down a mite. This the regular family-style reception round here? You meet every stranger with hot lead and badges?"

"Around here," the star packer said, "Sam Renwick asks the questions and it don't much improve his temper if he has to ask twice."

Ives shrugged. "Name's Frank-Latigo Black." "Renwick's black stare made the 50-cent tour, and he said with contempt he did not bother to hide: "we got more saddle burns now'n we can use. How do you make out when you're not on the gru bline?"

"Well," Ives smiled, "I'm pretty handy around saddle stock," and Renwick's brows pulled down. Despite this guarded reflex, Frank thought to have glimpsed a sharper interest.

"Bronc stomper, eh?" The lawman stood a while, silent, black stare still prying, still pushily poking, nothing on his face to show the trend of his cogitations. Then his mouth broke apart as though he'd shelved the matter. "For a rough-string rider you're might handy with this smoke pole."

"When I find the air filled with chunks of galena I don't figure to wait on Gabriel's trumpet before I make out to feed the kitty," Ives grinned, as pleasantly cool as a fresh hauled up well chain. Renwick, continuing to scowl, finally pigeonholed his problem with an irritable shrug.

"We'll let it go for now—"

"Don't do me no favors. If there's a complaint in this business it looks like I'm the one ought to lodge it."

Renwick, faced with that flat stare, became rock still. Then his jaw snapped shut. His cheeks roared up and his brows pulled down, but he did not explode. HE clenched his teeth, and took the benefit of another careful look.

Yankees Get Picked Off, Lose to Sox

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Whitey Ford's patented move to first base was deadlier than ever — but the Yankees wound up getting picked off and it cost them a length in the American League pennant derby.

The defending AL champs dropped a 2-1 cliff-hanger to the Chicago White Sox Monday night in the opener of a vital four-game series and it was a foul-up on Ford's seventh inning pickoff bid that set up the deciding run.

New York's southpaw ace, making his second relief appearance since an ailing hip knocked him out of the starting rotation, had choked off a White Sox rally in the sixth with a pair of strikeouts.

He walked Floyd Robinson with one out in the seventh, then caught him leaning with a quick flip to first baseman Joe Pepitone. But Robinson escaped the second when Bobby Richardson ensuing rundown and reached dropped the ball for an error. Pete Ward followed with a run-scoring single that pushed Chicago in front 2-0.

After Richardson's RBI single in the eighth halved the deficit, Hoyt Wilhelm rescued starter Juan Pizarro and hypnotized the Yankees with his knuckleball the rest of the way.

The victory, Chicago's third in 15 season meetings with New York, edged the Sox to within 1½ games of the front-running Baltimore Orioles, who were idle, and left the third-place Yankees three games off the pace.

The White Sox-Yankees game was the only one scheduled in the league Monday. Philadelphia increased its National League lead to five games over the Chicago Cubs 8-1 while St. Louis overtook Houston 3-1 and the New York Mets blanked Pittsburgh 5-0. No other N games were scheduled.

The White Sox threatened twice in the early innings against New York starter Ralph Terry, leading the bases in the first and fifth, but didn't break through until the sixth.

Gene Stephens singled, raced to third on Ron Hansen's single and scored on a sacrifice fly by J. C. Martin. Ford replaced Terry, who was charged with his 10th defeat, and ended the inning by fanning Pizarro and Jim Landis.

Card Front Office Dealt Twin Jolts

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The front office of the St. Louis Cardinals, reportedly the target of sweeping changes, received a double-barreled jolt Monday.

General Manager Bing Devine confirmed his resignation and Bob Howsam, former general manager of Denver in the American Association, is his apparent replacement.

More important, 32-year-old Branch Rickey, hired as special consultant 18 months ago, appears to be calling the shots.

Shortly after Rickey joined the club, and Devine had a "misunderstanding" over the division of authority. Rickey reportedly wanted to retire Stan Musial but Cardinal owner August Busch Jr., sided with Devine and rejected such a move.

Rickey and Devine patched up their differences, at least temporarily, and Musial retired the following year.

A story by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat Sports Editor Bob Burnes, quoting "an unimpeachable source" outside the Cardinal organization said Rickey recently recommended sweeping front office changes and the hiring of Howsam. He apparently caught Busch's ear.

Busch was unavailable for comment.

Stepping out with Devine was business manager Art Routong, 52. The Cardinals announced late in the day Howsam would replace Routong immediately.

But the Globe-Democrat's story said Howsam, who had been out of baseball for several years, was given the post temporarily to "learn the ropes" and then would be promoted to general manager.

Howsam, 46, would neither confirm nor deny such changes. Devine, 47, who said he would remain with the Cardinals "until at least near the end of the season," confirmed his decision with "emotion and regret."

He said he was stepping down after 25 years with the Cardinals because Busch was "disappointed and frustrated" with the team's inability to win a pennant. The last Redbird flag came in 1946. Devine became general manager in 1957.

The Cardinals, rated a strong contender for the pennant in pre-season polls, were in fifth place Monday, nine games behind league-leading Philadelphia.

Short Hidden by Shadow of Koufax

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Chris Short is being hidden by Sandy Koufax's shadow. Still, it's a giant step forward for a guy who last year led the Philadelphia pitching staff in only one department — wild pitches.

Short pitched a five-hitter Monday night, posting his 12th victory and lowering his earned run average to a brilliant 1.91, as the Phillies stretched their National League lead to five games over San Francisco by walloping the Chicago Cubs 8-1.

Short's emergence as a big winner for the Phillies — he's only one victory behind Jim (Perfect Game) Bunning for the team lead — can largely be credited to the patience of Manager Gene Mauch. And the Phillies emergence as a leading pennant contender can largely be credited to Short.

A 6-foot-4 left-hander who comes in at just under 200 pounds, Short showed considerably promise in 1962 when he posted an 11-9 record. Then, last season, he lost his first eight decisions. Mauch, however, stayed with him and he responded with a 9-4 mark in the second half.

This season, he's been one of the top left-handers in the league, but has been overshadowed by Koufax's brilliant work for Los Angeles. Short has had the 12-victory mark for the first time in his major league career and is second only to Koufax among NL starters in the vital ERA department.

Short's victory gave the Phillies their biggest bulge of the season over the Giants, who were idle.

Only two other games were scheduled in the NL Monday. Charlie Smith hit two homers and Dennis Ribant pitched a four-hitter as the New York Mets whipped Pittsburgh 5-0 and St. Louis made the most of two errors by Houston, scored three runs in the ninth inning and defeated the Colts 3-1.

In the only game on the American League program, the second-place Chicago White Sox edged New York 2-1, moving to within 1½ games of first-place Baltimore while dropping the third-place Yankees three games off the pace.

Short, who has lost six games was touched for a run in the second inning on a double by Doug Clemens, a wild pickoff attempt and a passed ball, but bore down in several serious jams to keep the Cubs scoreless the rest of the way.

The Phillies put it away in the second inning against Ernie Broglio, sending 10 men to the plate and scoring five runs. The big blow was a two-run triple by Johnny Callison, who later slugged another triple. Tony Taylor collected three hits for the Phillies, including No. 1,000 kof his career.

Smith, an infielder playing left field for the first time, cracked a three-run homer in the first inning off Bob Veale and added a solo shot in the eighth, taking the Mets' team lead with 15 homers.

Ribant, meanwhile, won his first major league game in his second start, striking out 10 and allowing the Pirates only four singles.

The Cardinals, shut out on six hits by 39-year-old Hal Brown for eight innings, scored all their runs with the aid of ninth inning errors by Eddie Kasko and Mike Shannon each singled home a run and Julian Javier's grounder got the other across.

Walt Bond had provided Houston's run with a sixth inning homer off Roger Craig, who allowed only three hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the eighth.
